REUBEN CREGAR KILLS HIMSELF

Discharges Contents of Double Barrel
Shot Gun Into Head at Home
Near Falmouth.

DESPONDENCY IS THE CAUSE

Thirteen-Year-Old Son Finds Him
Lying on Bed—Room a Horrible Sight.

Reuben Cregar, 50 years old, committed suicide this morning about ten o'clock at his home one-half mile west of Falmouth, by discharging the contents of a double barrel shot gun into his head.

Cregar was alone in the house at the time and was found lying on the bed by his thirteen-year-old son. It seems as though no one heard the shot and the little boy was attracted to his father's side by his heavy breathing. He at once called an older brother but the man died before help could reach him.

Nothing could have saved his life as about one-half of his head was shot away. The gun was found on the floor beside the bed and indications would point that both barrels had exploded. Cregar was lying across the bed and must have fallen backward in his death struggle.

The room in which the deed was committed presented a horrible sight. Pieces of his skull and brain being spattered on the walls and ceiling. The paper was stained with his blood and Cregar's features were hardly recognizable.

No reason, except despondency can be given for his act of self-destruction. Cregar seemed in good health and spirits this morning and gave no intimation whatever of his contemplated deed. He talked to his children as usual and seemed to be happy. It is thought domestic difficulties weighed heavily on his mind as his family relations had not been the pleasantest in the world. On last Saturday his wife, Emma Cregar, filed suit in the circuit court for divorce and asked $2000 alimony. It is said he was discouraged over this and that he took the suicide route as the best way out of his troubles. Cregar left no word in the way of a note or letter to his family.

Coroner Shauck of Arlington was called immediately after his death and will give his decision tomorrow. Cregar's survivors by a widow and nine children, six boys and three girls. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

PLANS TO ERECT $25,000 BUILDING

Noble Township Advisory Board Appropriates That Sum For New Salem School Structure.

WILL ADVERTISE FOR BIDS

At a meeting of the Noble township advisory board in Sparks & Gary's law office yesterday afternoon, the township trustee, Edgar Morris, was instructed to employ an architect to draw up plans for a new school building and to prepare to advertise for bids on the contemplated structure. The advisory board appropriated $25,000 to be spent in erecting the new building. The structure will be composed of eight rooms and will be modern in every respect. It will comply with the law which was passed at the recent session of the legislature. County Superintendent C. M. George attended the meeting.

It will be remembered that the State Board of Health condemned the building recently on the recommendation of Dr. J. N. Hurty, State health commissioner, who viewed the building while here to speak to the county board of education. Work will be started soon at tearing down the old structure in New Salem. The new structure will be erected on the same site as it complies with the law.

GIRL IS CAUGHT UNDER CARRIAGE

Miss Bessie Morris is Slightly Hurt
When Front Axle of Vehicle is Overturned.

MISS ALTA STEVENS JUMPS

Thanks to a gentle horse, Miss Bessie Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Morris, living east of the city, was not injured yesterday evening, when the carriage in which she was riding broke down in front of the I. & C. station. Miss Morris and Miss Alta Stevens were driving in Third street in the Morris carriage about six o'clock last evening, when the front axle of the carriage broke after the front wheels had in some manner been caught in the car tracks. Miss Stevens realized the danger in time and jumped just as the carriage upset. The vehicle turned completely over and Miss Morris was pinned under it with the lines in her hands. The horse was thrown but was soon on its feet and did not offer to move until it was ordered to do so. Miss Morris was only slightly bruised about the body from the fall. The carriage was rather light and for that reason did not seriously hurt her when it fell on her body.

COUNCIL HELD SHORT SESSION

No Important Business Was Transacted at Regular Meeting
Last Night.

AWAIT ARRIVAL OF SWEEPER

Wilk and Redman to Oil Two Blocks of Street as an Experiment.

A petition from the property owners in Ninth street for the extension of water mains from Willow to Cherry street, was read to the city council last night. The petition was referred to the water and light committee and they will report at the next meeting.

The council made arrangements with Wilk and Redman, contractors, to fix two squares of street with oil. The work will be done as an experiment and the street committee was given power to contract for more of the work if they think best. The method Wilk and Redman use is considered a good one and they have contracts for repairing several roads over the county in the manner the streets would be fixed here. They spike the street, then roll it and place on a thick coat of oil. After the oil is on, an inch layer of crushed stone is to be packed in and the oil acts as a binder, holding the stone in place and making a dustless street. The plan was looked upon favorably and the streets that are now in poor condition may all be worked over into good condition.

The street commissioner was ordered to haul the dirt from Main street each morning as fast as the merchants sweep in front of their places of business. The street sweeper is expected now at any time as Studebaker Brothers have acknowledged the order and in a letter to the city clerk stated that the machine has been shipped. The street sweeper is needed badly as Main street is very dirty, especially so in the resident district.

A. B. Williams was given permission to construct sidewalks in Arthur and Tenth street. Councilman Kelley brought to the attention of the council the bad condition of the alley leading north from Third street to the A. C. Brown elevator and in all probability it will be cut down and repaired.

Before adjourning claims to the amount of $2,000 were allowed.

WANT PAY FOR ENGINE

Oneal Brothers go to Court to Collect
From J. K. Gowdy.

The case of Oneal Brothers against John K. Gowdy for the price of a gasoline engine was started before a jury in the circuit court about noon today. The plaintiffs allege that Mr. Gowdy owes for an engine, while the defendant says that the engine was not satisfactory. He declares that it was agreed that he should have the engine on thirty, sixty or ninety days trial and that he would be allowed to return it in case it did not suit.

BODY NOT RECOVERED.

The body of little Clyde Holder, who was drowned in the river at Connersville Saturday afternoon, has not been recovered and many of the most ardent searchers after it are beginning to despair. The fear that it will never be found is strong with the grief-stricken parents also, yet hope has not been utterly given up.

WILL APPEAL TO CIRCUIT COURT

Petitioners to Pave Perkins Street
Believe Sixty-Seven Had no
Right to Withdraw.

COMMISSIONERS SAY THEY DID

Another Hearing on First Street Petition Will be Held Tomorrow—
Strenuous Day.

After a strenuous day of argument before the county commissioners on the petitions to pave First and Perkins street with brick, the commissioners dismissed the Perkins street petition and set nine o'clock in the morning for another hearing on the First street matter.

Attorneys for the petitioners allege that not enough petitioners had withdrawn to make the number less than fifty, while the attorneys for the petitioners who withdrew held the opposite. The commissioners will allow the attorneys to prove their assertions in the morning.

The commissioners dismissed the Perkins street petition on the theory that the sixty-seven petitioners had a right to withdraw and that there were not fifty remaining after the sixty-seven were taken away. The petitioners who want the street will appeal to the circuit court on the theory that it was out of the jurisdiction of the commissioners court to dismiss the petition, and that the sixty-seven petitioners had no right to withdraw after the petition had once been filed.

Practically the whole morning was spent in arguing the Perkins street petition. The names of sixty-seven petitioners for the improvement of Perkins street were presented for withdrawal and the commissioners decided that they had a right to withdraw. That is the question which will be settled in the higher courts as to whether or not the petitioners had a right to withdraw after the petition once had been filed in the auditor's office.

The commissioners had not counted the number of petitioners on the first petition nor had they counted the number which asked that their names be withdrawn. Other persons, including the attorneys for the opposing sides, had counted them and had found that there was a balance of fifty names left on the original petition. This would entitle the petitioners to consideration from the commissioners if they were all free holders, but the attorneys for the petitioners granted that some of that number were not free holders and that the petition was valueless.

The question as to the form of the record which should be made by the commissioners caused a heated argument between John H. Kiplinger, attorney for the petitioners, and Link Gary, attorney for the withdrawing petitioners and others who are opposed to the improvement. Gates Sexton is also representing the petitioners. Mr. Gary asked that the commissioners, since they had allowed the sixty-seven petitioners to withdraw their names, show in their finding that the remaining number of petitioners was not sufficient to cause a consideration by the board and that the prayer of the remonstrators that the petition be dismissed, be granted. The petitioners' attorneys objected strenuously to that on the theory that the commissioners had no power to dismiss the petition. They argued that the matter was out of the board's jurisdiction and that they could not dismiss the petition.

Mr. Gary pointed to a recent statute in which he alleged that it stated that in cases similar to the one under argument that the commission-

School Age This Year.

It is a notable fact that Carthage has one more child of school age this year than last. This enumeration shows 226 while last year there were only 225. The enumeration for Center township which was not turned in Monday is 242, a loss of 27 in the last year. The enumeration of Rushville township is 394, which is a falling off of 13 since last year. The total number of children of school age in the county is 4,150.

Regular Meeting of Retail Merchants Association Will be Held Tomorrow Evening.

OTHER IMPORTANT BUSINESS

The regular meeting of the Rushville Retail Merchant Association will be held in the court house assembly room tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. The officers of the organization earnestly request that a large and representative body of business men come out for the meeting. It will be the last meeting before the first "Big Wednesday" of the season, which will be held next week. Only tentative plans have been made so far and it is planned to arrange all of the details at the meeting tomorrow night. It is hoped that the unusual bargain days will be made an even greater success this year, the second of their existence.

MAKES ATTACK ON GRAND JURY ACT

Dan Williams Accused of Complicity in Bank Robbery Declares Indictment is Illegal.

FILES PLEA IN ABATEMENT

Daniel Williams, who was indicted by the Hancock county grand jury during the month of March, has filed a plea in abatement through his attorney, Earl Sample. Williams is charged with being implicated in the robbery of the bank at New Palestine. Williams alleges that in addition to the prosecutor, Ed F. Quigley, and Charles L. Tindall, who was employed to assist in prosecuting the case, there were present in the grand jury room, when Cordia Martin and Van Deery were questioned, two detectives, Manning and Simons of Indianapolis and Ora Myers, mayor of Greenfield. He alleges that neither of these were prosecuting attorneys, or deputies, and that they had not been employed to assist the grand jury or prosecuting attorney. That all three propounded questions to said Martin and Deery in the presence of the grand jury.

He claims that by the procedure, the grand jury was influenced against him; that his lawful rights were infringed upon; that he was prejudiced in his substantial rights, and that the grand jury was influenced by the proceedings had before it, and he asks in all things that this action be dismissed and that the same be abated. Argument has not been made on the plea.

FIGHT OVER A TOBACCO SACK

Gentry Brothers' Tent Hands Prepare to Strangle a Fellow Workman.

INTERFERENCE COMES IN TIME

Bull Durham is Delivered to Wrong
Man, Hence the Argument.

A quarrel over the ownership of a mere package of Bull Durham caused a fight among the hands of the Gentry Brothers shows last evening, which might have resulted fatally had not some men interfered. The names of the principals in the fist encounter were not learned.

One of the men sent a boy after a package of smoking tobacco. The boy returned and gave it to the wrong man. When the tent hand who furnished the money found that the tobacco had been delivered to the wrong person he hunted for the one who had received it.

The hand who had been so graciously presented with the smoking tobacco was delighted and refused to stand and deliver when the man who paid out the coin asked him for it. A fight ensued and the man with the pack of Bull Durham was doomed.

It seems that the tent man who started the trouble had a pal and the two prepared to strangle the unfortunate victim who had been so fortunate to get a pack of tobacco for nothing. They tied a noose around his neck and while one held him the other tightened the noose. The man's calls for help attracted other employees of the circus who took the two men off.

And the man who paid got his Bull Durham.

FIND LEADS TO ROBBERY THEORY

Shirt is Discovered in Barn and the Belief Was That Burglars Had Been Working.

UNGRATEFUL TRAMP IS CAUSE

A shirt with Ed Sherman's name on the collar band was found in Mrs. Nancy Furry's barn yesterday and the first thought was that the Sherman home had been burglarized. The wearing apparel was brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Ginn, who are next-door neighbors to Mr. and Mrs. Sherman, and there the belief that the home had been robbed was still stronger. The shirt was taken to Mrs. Sherman and she remembered that it was the one which she had given to a tramp who declared that he had lost one arm and was unable to work. The knight of the road evidently did not appreciate the gift.

The same tramp has been visiting homes all over the city in the last few days, begging for money, clothing and eatables. He has always asserted that he has only one arm, and carries one empty sleeve on his coat. It has developed that the man is a fake and that he has emptied the sleeve of a perfectly good arm and concealed it, thus playing on the sympathy of the housewives. And he has been very successful from all reports.

White hosiery and shoes can only be worn with all-white or floral and white fabrics.

THE DIETZ TRIAL

Story of the Siege of Cameron Dam Being Rehearsed in Court.

Hayward, Wis., May 3.—John E. Dietz, his wife and son Leslie E., are on trial here before Judge Reid in the circuit court. They are charged with the murder of Oscar Harp, a deputy sheriff, one of a posse which besieged the Dietz cabin near Cameron dam last October, who was found dead after the smoke of battle had cleared away.

At that time John Dietz was wanted on a warrant charging assault with intent to kill a man with whom he had had a fight.

INDIANAPOLIS BENT ON INVESTIGATION

Commercial Bodies Insist On Clearing Mystery.

Indianapolis, May 3.—A letter from the heads of the labor organizations regarding the alleged purpose of trade organizations to oppose labor unions was taken up and discussed at meetings of the Commercial club, the Merchants' association and the governors of the board of trade.

In answer to it all the organizations adopted resolutions ignoring the labor unions' demand for an explanation of the organizations' attitude, but making it very clear that they stand for law enforcement and are not to be deterred from their purpose to have the dynamiting outrages investigated.

All of the resolutions adopted are of the same general tenor. They declare that it is not their purpose to prejudice any man in connection with the dynamiting outrages, but that the "association unequivocally demands that a most thorough investigation be made into the recent charges which connect our city with the dynamiting outrages," and that "the civic authorities of the city and state be advised of the entire support of this association in all legitimate efforts for the discovery and punishment of the guilty parties."

In the discussions at the meetings there was no denunciation of organized labor, but there was a pronounced sentiment that the labor leaders were too quick to rush to the conclusion that opposition to dynamiting is opposition to organized labor.

GRAND RUSH FOR IMMUNITY BATH

Cut Grand Jury Turned All Applicants Down.

LEGISLATURE IS ALL TORN UP

The Situation as to Graft Over in Ohio Is the Worst He Ever Saw, Says Detective Burns, Whose Men Say They Have Unraveled the Plans of Crooked Legislators to Get All That Was Going.

Columbus, O., May 3.—Offering to testify before the grand jury, several assemblymen went to Prosecutor Turner and Attorney General Hogan, but their offers were not accepted. These proposals were taken as indication of a panic among the solons, and a desire on the part of some to get in early for an immunity bath.

Before the grand jury there appeared a number of prominent officials, including Governor Harmon. The witness room was crowded with detectives, lobbyists and corporation representatives. The latter purpose to tell how they were held up or how efforts were made to have them "fork over" money to get bills through committees and then passed or to have the reverse process brought about.

Detective Burns, head of the organization which has ferreted out the corruption, was at the courthouse for some time. This is the most corrupt assembly he has ever been called upon to investigate, he told reporters.

In the house every member of the calendar committee, against which much suspicion has been directed, has resigned except Dr. George B. Nye, who Saturday had detectives arrested for offering him bribes.

It has developed that when Governor Harmon opened an envelope supposed to contain the bribe money which Nye says he received, that the bills were not the marked ones which the detectives say they paid to Nye. The amount, $200, was correct, however. In this connection it has also developed that while Nye received the money about three weeks ago, he did not turn it over to Speaker Vinson until last Thursday.

A significant indication of the unrest existing in the assembly came when the senate, which has been reactionary and has blocked almost every effort of Governor Harmon to secure progressive legislation, put through Harmon's pet bills, the measure for a central board of control for state institutions and the bill providing for the direct nomination of United States senators according to the Oregon plan. The reactionary senators are betraying a sudden anxiety to be good.

Worst He Ever Saw, Says Burns.

"Of all the bribery investigations with which I have been connected the evidence in this is the most conclusive, the most unquestionable and was gotten by the most up-to-date methods," said Detective Burns. He would not venture a prediction as to the extent of bribery in Columbus, nor would he give the names of his clients.

"The Ohio legislators," said he, "are the most persistent grafters I ever saw in my life. They were after it all the time, and would take anything. From all I could learn, they've been grafting ever since they came to Columbus in January."

This is the first direct intimation that the detectives have any information extending back of the time they commenced operations here, about April 1. Mr. Burns has no doubt as to the conviction of Dr. Nye, and says that the move he made in having the detectives arrested will not save him.

Governor Harmon made a personal appeal to Representative Lawrence K. Langdon, Republican floor leader of the house, to influence the Republicans to get together with the Democrats and clear up the clouded atmosphere in the assembly. The governor urged that the bills which the people want should be passed and that no hindrance be placed in the way of progressive legislation. "We are all Buckeyes," said the governor to Langdon. "We should now obliterate party lines and stand together to clear up this situation, if it takes six months. Let the Republicans and Democrats form an alliance to do what the people of the state want done, and forget politics for the time."

Representative Langdon told the governor in reply that the Republicans of the house had no intention of blocking any legislation and that they were anxious that the probe into the alleged bribery in the legislature be thorough and cleansing.

Americans Hemmed In.

Mexico City, May 3.—Considerable anxiety is felt here for Americans who are stranded in Cuernavaca and the extensive mining district south of Morelos and Guerrero. Both railroad and telegraphic communications are cut and it is impossible to ascertain the condition of affairs.

Spoke to Empty Benches.

Washington, May 3.—A round of speeches of the farmers' free list bill was the order of the day in the house yesterday. The attendance during the day was wretched, practically all of the speakers delivering their broadsides to empty benches.

MRS. MARY W. GATES

Her Application For Divorce Was Unopposed by Charles E.

New York, May 3.—Supreme Court Justice Gerard has signed an interlocutory decree of divorce for Mrs. Mary W. Gates in her suit against Charles E. Gates upon the report of the referee in the proceedings. Counsel for Gates did not oppose the motion to confirm the referee's decree, and it is understood that only a formal defense was made.

'TIS SAID THAT TRACK WAS NOT IN POSITION

When Ill-Fated Teachers' Train Swept to Doom.

Utica, N. Y., May 3.—The charred bodies of six of the Utica young women who were cremated in the train wreck at Martins Creek, N. J., Saturday afternoon were brought here in a single casket by special car. Identification of the remains being impossible, the bodies will be interred in one casket and a granite shaft provided by the school children and by popular subscription, will be erected over the grave.

It is reported that the real cause of the disaster was a failure on the part of the proper officials of the company to announce the approach of the special train. Workmen repairing the tracks where the accident occurred are said to have been wholly unaware of the presence of the special in their vicinity, and employees declare that the rails were actually being taken up when the engine bore down upon them. Some of the workmen, it is said, even had narrow escapes themselves from injury. After the passing of the regular express they believed that they would not be disturbed for some time, and were working away at a lively clip when the special came upon them.

It is learned that all but two of those injured in the wreck are likely to recover. Should these two die the death list will be increased to sixteen.

'DISQUIETING RUMORS

President Taft Finds Little Ground For Comfort in Border Situation.

Washington, May 3.—Confidential government reports which are being received at the White House from Mexico indicate that conditions in that country are still serious. It is understood that the insurgents are making preparations for a more aggressive campaign. The peace news from El Paso does not appear to have relieved President Taft's apprehensions over the situation. The impression given at the White House is that the lull in the hostilities is entirely superficial and does not signify any substantial change in internal conditions in Mexico.

The White House has so far received no formal answer from the Mexican government to President Taft's demand that the federal troops keep away from the American border during engagements.

RESIGNED UNDER FIRE

New York City Chamberlain Gives Up His Job.

New York, May 3.—Charles H. Hyde resigned as city chamberlain a few hours after he was taken into custody on an indictment for receiving a bribe. Mr. Hyde made a statement in which he said he was quitting his job in order not to embarrass Mayor Gaynor.

John Vincent Smith, Hyde's secretary, who borrowed money from the Carnegie Trust company for his boss, was called before the grand jury today to explain what he meant by saying the investigation against Hyde is a conspiracy. Smith will be quizzed about other things, too.

Hyde was arraigned before Supreme Court Justice Vernon M. Davis, pleaded not guilty and went free on a $7,500 bond.

Forfeited Right to Big Estate.

Philadelphia, May 3.—When Mrs. Kate P. Elkins, widow of William L. Elkins, Jr., became the wife of W. D. Neilson yesterday she forfeited her right to a third interest in $1,250,000 and all of her former husband's personal property, amounting to about $500,000. The money and property go to her children.

FINGER PRINTS SENT TO BURNS

Jim McNamara Granted Request of Detective.

PURPOSE OF SAME IS UNKNOWN

Detective Burns Had Sent to Los Angeles a Request For Finger Prints of Alleged Dynamiter—Supposition Is That Marks Are Wanted For Comparison With Telltale Marks Found in Connection With Some "Job."

Los Angeles, May 3.—On the request of District Attorney J. D. Fredericks the supervisors of Los Angeles county have set aside $10,000 to be used in prosecuting the three men now prisoners in the county jail charged with dynamiting.

Finger prints made by J. B. McNamara at the request of the district attorney have been sent east. What their purpose is the prosecutor declines to say. It is surmised that finger prints were found after some of the dynamiting jobs in the east in which Ortie E. McManigal says he and James McNamara participated, and that the prints sent from Los Angeles are for comparison. The district attorney admitted the request for them came from Burns.

W. J. Ford, deputy district attorney, arrived this afternoon, bringing with him a copy of one of the confessions made by McManigal. He will confer with the district attorney and there will be no arraignment until they have gone over the confession and other matters in connection with Ford's trip to Indianapolis.

J. E. Timmons, organizer for the iron workers here, has received a telegram from Seattle stating that the Seattle labor council had voted $50,000 for the defense of the McNamaras.

There was another identification of James McNamara as "J. B. Bryce" last evening. D. F. Young of Los Angeles identified McNamara as one of the four men he met on the steamer Mandalay, leaving San Pedro Sept. 6 last for San Francisco. Descriptions he gave fitted those of Schmidt and Kaplan, two men said by the authorities to have been in the Times plot, who are still at large.

HAD CLOSE CALL

Six Shots Fired at Close Range at Panama's Venerable President.

Colon, May 3.—As a result, it is believed, of the hot fight now on for the presidency of Panama, an attempt was made at David to assassinate Pablo Arosemena, the venerable first designated and acting president. Arosemena, who is seventy-four years old, was returning from a trip to the province of Chiriqui. At David he gave a dinner to a number of his friends. Politics was discussed, but informally. As the banquet drew to a close the host rose to answer a toast to Panama. As he gained his feet six revolver bullets whizzed by him and were buried in the wall. As soon as they recovered self-possession the diners gave the alarm, but the would-be assassin was nowhere to be seen. The shots came in quick succession and are believed to have all been from one revolver. Tropical plants massed in a window concealed the assailant.

MAY BE A HITCH

Mexican Rebels Will Insist on Treating Direct in Peace Conference.

El Paso, Tex., May 3.—The peace negotiations are expected to open permanently tomorrow. Meantime the armistice is to be extended for another five days from noon today. The insurgents will insist that the federal commissioners have absolute power to act for the government and if they do not bear this power there will be a hitch in negotiations until they get it.

All railroad lines south of Chihuahua are still tied up. The insurgents have looted over $100,000 worth of goods, including arms and ammunition, in the past ten days in towns in the region of Torreon. From Sonora come advices that Americans have been warned to leave all border towns, as the insurgents intend to start at once on another offensive campaign.

A HOPEFUL MESSAGE TO SCALP SUFFERERS AND MEN WHO'S HAIR IS TURNING

Dandruff now—bald later. The same is true of scalp diseases. In fact baldness is a scalp disease. The trouble with the greasy salves and lotions, the so-called dandruff and scalp cures you have tried so far is that they don't do anything but temporarily relieve the itching and make the dandruff so it doesn't fall until its dried out again. Nothing can cure—really cure such troubles but a real scalp medicine that will kill the germs causing dandruff and scalp disease.

Learning from leading fellow druggists throughout America that they had found a whirlwind cure for dandruff, eczema and all diseases of the skin and scalp the F. E. Walcott Drug Store on proving to the laboratories compounding the treatment that it is the most prominent drug store in this city secured the agency for the remedy. This remedy is ZEMO, the clean, liquid preparation that kills the germ of disease and ZEMO SOAP to wash the scalp or skin clear and clean of the dandruff or scale and by its antiseptic qualities soothe and heal.

Sold and guaranteed by druggists everywhere and in Rushville by F. E. Walcott.

Valveless Auto to Enter Racing Sport

W. H. Turner, who will pilot a valveless Amplex through the 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Memorial Day, May 30. Turner drove his big car at the rate of 85 miles an hour through the snow on the Speedway in January.

FRENCH DRIVERS HERE

CHEVROLET AND BASLE AT INDIANAPOLIS TO DRIVE RACE.

Buick Team Has Two Pilots Who Got Reputation Abroad Before Driving in America.

Arthur Chevrolet, the "Swiss Whirlwind," and Charley Basle, the famous French driver, will be the pilots of the Buick cars in the 500-mile International Sweepstakes Race to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day, according to the announcement of Wadsworth Warren, manager of the famous Michigan racing team. Both of these drivers are well known, having been engaged in many of the greatest events in the last few years. Arthur Chevrolet is the brother of Louis Chevrolet, who sprang into sudden prominence by winning the Cobe Trophy Race at Crown Point in 1909. At that time Arthur Chevrolet was a mechanic along with the Buick team. He has been in America since 1897, coming here first as an employee of the Winton Motor Car Co., but later engaged in the racing game, his first appearance being in 1905. He has been in many minor events as well as many of the great classics, starting as a runner-up to his brother Lewis and "Wild Bob" Burman, who was the other driver on the Buick team.

Charley Basle gained distinction in France before coming to America and last season performed at the wheel of a Pope-Hartford. This team of Franco-American drivers will be mounted on the Buick 100 cars, which proved so speedy in the big events of the 1910 season, one of them winning the place as first American car in the Grand Prize race at Savannah under the guidance of "Wild Bob" Burman. Up to the present time there are thirty-five cars entered in this long event and the nomination of Basle and Chevrolet leaves but two or three cars without drivers. The Speedway management anticipates receiving at least four or five more entries, among them being a car which will be driven by Burman, who is the only great American pilot out of the list of drivers to compete.

Side purses of $8,300 have been offered in addition to the $25,100 gold purse offered by the Speedway management for the winners of this race. These purses have been hung up by various accessory and supply makers and it is stated that several thousand dollars will be added before the event is started. The early advance sale of seats and reservations for this great race received from all parts of the country, indicate that the event has taken on national character, which the promoters intended it should when preliminary announcement was made. Almost every large car engaged in the racing game is entered and the following of each manufacturer at the race will be large. Automobile clubs have been making block reservations for their members and fully a dozen different cities are planning tours to the Indiana capital. The Speedway management has found it necessary to erect additional stands and a large force of men is engaged in remodeling the grounds so as to accommodate the vast throng which will be present.

M'FARLAN CARS TO RACE

Indiana Autos Plan Big Season For 1911 Over Country.

Two new speed creations which will cut quite a figure in the 1911 automobile racing season, according to the plans of the makers, are the big and little "6" made by the McFarlan Motor Car Co., of Connerville, Indiana. These two cars, built exactly alike in all details except for size, will be campaigned over the racing circuit this year, the big "6" taking part in the events for the larger class and the little "6" in the class to which it is eligible. Both of them are entered in the 500-mile International Sweepstakes Race to be held over the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, next Memorial Day.

GRANT USES HIS HEAD

VANDERBILT CUP WINNER HAS OWN METHOD FOR RACE DRIVING.

Enters Alco Car for 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis and Trusts Same Machine Again.

How did Harry Grant manage to win the great Vanderbilt Cup classic twice in succession?

This question often asked has been answered by the famous pilot himself, and the answer is merely an explanation of how he drives every motor contest in which he engages. Grant has entered his reliable Alco, "Old No. 18," the same with which he has won both Vanderbilt Cup events, in the 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, next Memorial Day, May 30.

Thirty cars have been entered in the $25,000 race and many of them are special racing cars built specially for the event.

Against these will be the Alco car which Grant hurled round the Vanderbilt course. He has the greatest faith in his ability to win the big race with "Old No. 18." Grant is regarded by many motoring experts as the greatest American driver. His methods are very different from those which distinguish some of the more brilliant and spectacular drivers. He seldom shows any desire early in the race to forge to the front or to set pace. His method is more conservative. Some one said "Grant doesn't run a race; he thinks it." Grant plans out the degree of speed necessary to win, then drives according to that schedule.

In the second Vanderbilt last October, Grant did not seem a factor in the race until the last 50 miles. But he won. He has the faith in his car which he knew would respond to the limit of the mechanism's ability, when he called on it to respond, and faith in his judgment to know the right minute to make that demand.

There has been considerable talk among men interested in automobile racing as to what this race would have to be ridden in to win. George Robertson, the famous driver who has now permanently left the track, is of the opinion that the race will be won in at least an average of 75 miles an hour. The Vanderbilt race last October was won in an average of 65.2 miles per hour and the winning Alco was well within its power at that time. It is somewhat a question of tires, but this will not absolutely govern the winning of the race. The car which has the ability to withstand the constant torsional strain in combination with the driver will win the Indianapolis race. Grant expects to do a great deal of preliminary training with the car not only on the road but on tracks.

Chicago Car Will Try For Big Race

J. F. Gelhaw, Fal car driver who is entered in the 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Decoration Day, May 30.

READY FOR THE BIG RACE

DARING DRIVERS AND FAST CARS AWAIT STARTER'S WORD AT SPEEDWAY.

More Than Forty Big Autos. Will Compete For Golden Fortune at Indianapolis on Memorial Day.

Everything is in readiness for the greatest automobile race known in the history of the world—the 500-mile International Sweepstakes, to be run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Memorial Day, May 30th. For the past few weeks every great American driver has been tuning his car and preparing it for the test which the long grind will make the most strenuous ever known. Almost every factory in the United States which participates in the automobile racing game has one or more representatives in this classic event. The list of drivers is a roster of the "Hall of Fame," with not one great driver who is on American soil missing. Winners of all the biggest events of the past three or four years are ready for the starter's gun, and if the weather is clear more than 100,000 people will witness this supreme contest.

More than forty cars have been named to start, all of them having more than forty horse-power, and a great many of them capable of traveling at the rate of two miles a minute. Piloted by men who have proved their fearlessness and ability, these monster speed creations will offer the visiting throng the greatest spectacle ever witnessed in the annals of motor racing.

The following cars have been named as entrants in this race: Case, Simplex, Inter-State, National, Pope-Hartford, Westcott, Stutz, Mercedes, Amplex, Fal, Knox, Buick, Benz, Alco, McFarlan, Jackson Cutting, Fiat, Firestone-Columbus, Marmon, Lozier, Apperson, Mercer. Piloting these cars will be the following drivers: Strang, DePalma, Baldwin, Aitken, Disbrow, Fox, Knight, Jagersburger, Larsonneur, Anderson, Wishart, Turner, Pearce, Gelhaw, Belcher, A. Chevrolet, C. Basle, Hearne, Grant, Merz, Wilcox, Clemens, Adams, Ellis, Cobe, Tower, Delaney, Bruce-Brown, Van Gorder, Frayer, Rickenbacher, Dawson, Harroun, Mulford, Tetzlaff, Lytle, Hughes, Bigelow, Beardsley and Bragg.

Every one of the cars entered has proved its ability to travel at the rate of seventy-five miles an hour. It is now believed that American speedway records for every long distance from ten miles to five hundred will fall in this time-annihilating flight. For several days tourists have been pouring into Indianapolis from all parts of the country, many of them having made cross country trips from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. The capital of the Hoosier state is accommodating more visitors for this event, than on any other occasion in its history.

The great two and one-half mile brick course is in perfect condition. The stands and seating capacity have been increased and every preparation made to facilitate the handling of the monster crowd which will be in attendance. In addition to the attractiveness of the event, the start of the 1911 Grand Circuit season from Indianapolis has proved an additional drawing card and all of the famous motoring enthusiasts have gathered to witness the send-off. Never before has one event attracted the attention that this long classic has centered on the Middle West and Indiana.

This great race will start at ten o'clock in the morning and the Speedway gates will be thrown open to the public at 6:30. Long before this time, it is believed, the crowds will be assembled at the gates ready for admission as soon as they are opened and every arrangement has been made to facilitate the handling of the vast throng as fast as it appears.

The 500-mile race will last probably about seven hours, and a new world's champion will be proclaimed by five o'clock on Memorial Day. Prizes of $25,000 in gold are to be awarded to the winners of the first ten places in this event and accessory and supply makers have hung up $25,000 in added purses.

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

The brief attacking the constitutionality of the Marshall constitution, which has just been filed at Indianapolis, reveals more of the chicanery which has accompanied that remarkable document, prepared by Governor Marshall, as he put it, for the purpose of "taking the minds of the people off the liquor question," says the Marion Chronicle. The act of the legislature attempts to make of the constitution a partisan issue. No provision is made for voting on it except under a party emblem. This is evidence that the inspiration of the new constitution is the desire for personal and partisan advantage, and not the good of the commonwealth. The Marshall method of re-making the constitution according to the dietion of one man, and not a very big one at that, fortunately appears to be unconstitutional.

HOOSIER METHOD IS FAR FROM GOOD

Purdue Expert Doles Out Some Advice on Marketing of Eggs in Indiana.

GRADING IS RECOMMENDED

Fault Lies With Producer Who Wants so Much Per Dozen For Good and Bad Ones.

A. G. Philips, associate in poultry husbandry at Purdue university agricultural experiment station, in a newspaper bulletin, says:

"Indiana has a bad system of marketing eggs, causing an immense number of poor quality eggs to be brought upon the market. This lowers the price and reduces the profit to the producer. The blame for this condition must be placed equally upon the farmer and buyer. Indiana is progressing wonderfully in its poultry interest, but there still exists that old habit of doing some things in a certain way, simply because they always have been done that way, completely ignoring the fact that by so doing, the per cent of profit is being kept down lower than it should be.

"It is a known fact among most buyers that one of the reasons they do not buy eggs on the quality basis, is because the producer objects to it, refusing to accept any price other than so much per dozen, regardless of quality. Sometimes the farmer even threatens to go to another buyer, if his eggs are candled. This is indeed a very peculiar state of affairs. Some farmers will not sell their best eggs because they do not obtain any better prices for them. Some do not know what a really first-class egg is like, so through ignorance, market only a fair quality of eggs. In many cases he will not demand a grading of his eggs. In fact, he will sometimes resent any hint on the part of the buyer to candle his eggs.

"Some of the causes of this condition must be placed on the buyer. Competition is so strong with egg buyers, that they are afraid to buy eggs 'loss off,' for fear of losing trade. Some competitors will take eggs 'case count' and since it seems to be the desire of many farmers to sell eggs by this method, he gets all the trade. Some day the buyers are going to work up enough courage to agree to buy eggs 'loss off' or according to quality only and then there will be some equality of prices for eggs.

"The conditions above stated can only be considered an evil, and there must be a remedy. If every farmer in any community will demand of his buyer that he pays for eggs on the quality basis, they will find the average buyer only too willing to grant the demand.

"Popular opinion can control almost any situation, and if it be the sentiment of any community to obtain fair prices for their eggs, those prices will soon be forthcoming. There are some Indiana buyers who are now feebly trying to buy eggs 'loss off,' and the producers should surely encourage them. If there happens to be some real stubborn buyer in any community, it would certainly be advisable for the frames to ship the eggs to some other buyer, who will more than make up the difference in order to obtain the eggs. This is a condition that can be controlled by the farmers. They can make it what they want it to be if they will stand together and demand a market where the method of buying is 'loss off.'"

MUSICAL GLASSES

Mozart Composed For Them and Gluck Played Upon Them.

INVENTED BY AN IRISHMAN.

Richard Pockrich, the Versatile Genius Who Originated Them, Once Used Their Melody to Charm Away the Bailiffs Who Had Arrested Him.

Richard Pockrich, an Irishman who lived in the eighteenth century, was a true genius, a dreamer and an inventor. He proposed metal ships, predicted flying machines, advocated bog drainage and vine planting in the Emerald Isle, invented an instrument for transfusing blood and was for some years a brewer in Dublin.

It was in the domain of art that he achieved his one real triumph, the one by which he is known in contemporary musical history, by which he became known to general European civilization during his lifetime and by which his name will long survive. He invented the musical glasses. These can be heard today in vaudeville houses all over the world and will probably survive as long as the musical art itself. Most of our readers have heard them. They are simply a set of tumbler or goblet like glasses selected for tonal quality to carry out a musical scale. Pockrich seems to have been the first man to be struck by the musical tone in glass, and so he thought the thing out and produced a scale on which he could play any melody.

He exhibited his discovery in Dublin and finally took it to England about the year 1750, where it became the sensation of the hour. Nothing was talked of but the marvelous, simple, new musical instrument. It seemed to the ears of the fabled Londoners that the heavenly art in all its elemental beauty had returned to earth. Far from sneering at so very simple an idea for making melody, the cognoscenti of London went into raptures over the musical glasses. Gluck, the great composer, who was in London, did not disdain to play his immortal airs upon them.

"The opera flourishes more than in any recent year," wrote Horace Walpole to a friend. "The composer is Gluck, a German. He is to have a benefit, at which he is to play a set of drinking glasses which he modulates with water. I think I have heard you speak of some such thing."

Not only did Gluck perform upon Pockrich's new instrument, but Beethoven, Mozart and other great musicians in later years actually composed music for it. Goldsmith refers to it in "The Vicar of Wakefield." Not long after the inventor visited London, and Benjamin Franklin speaks of him in a letter to a friend thus:

"You have doubtless heard the sweet tone that is drawn from a drinking glass by passing a wet finger round its brim. One Mr. Pockrich, a gentleman from Ireland, was the first who thought of playing tunes formed of such tones. He collected a number of glasses of different sizes, fixed them near each other on a table and tuned them by putting into them water, more or less as each note required. The tones were brought out by passing his fingers round the brim."

There is a story of Pockrich, who was making occasional tours to England after the invention of the musical glasses, that illustrates the surprising effect of his own performance on them. It is told by his friend Brockhill Newburgh, a gentleman of wealth and position, who lived in Dublin at the time: "Mr. Pockrich in his brewery near Islandbridge, happening to be one day seized by bailiffs, thus addressed them: 'Gentlemen, I am your prisoner, but before I do myself the honor to attend you give me leave as an humble performer in music to entertain you with a tune.'

"Sir," exclaimed one of the bailiffs, 'we came here to execute our warrant, not to 'hear tunes.'"

"Gentlemen," says the captain, 'I submit to your authority, but in the interim while you are only taking a dram—here, Jack (calling to his servant), bring a bottle of the Rosa Solis I lately distilled—I say, gentlemen, before you take a dram I shall dispatch my tune.'

"In the meanwhile he flourishes a prelude on the glasses and afterward displays his skill through all the pleasing turns and variations of 'The Black Joke.' The monsters, charmed with the magic of his sounds, for some time stand and gaze. At length, recovering from their trance, they thus accost the captain.

"Sir, upon your parole of honor to keep the secret we give you your liberty. 'Tis well playing upon glasses is not more common; if it were I believe our trade would find little employment."

Another musical instrument that Pockrich developed as no man had ever dreamed of before was the drum. He had dreamed of harmony even in the drum. He planned an orchestra of drums only. There were to be twenty of them, varying in size and tone from the smallest trebles to the basses, to be played by one person standing with the drums arranged about him in a circle. Pockrich never succeeded in producing true melody from a concert of drums.

The musical glasses were the direct cause of Pockrich's death. It was while he was upon one of his musical tours in England in the year 1759 that the hotel in London in which he was sleeping caught fire and he was burned to death.—Joseph Lewis French in New York Post.

PROSECUTOR IS "UP IN THE AIR"

Henry County Official Objects When Knightstown Druggist Pleads Guilty in J. P. Court.

MARSHAL FILES AFFIDAVITS

Alleged Offender Will Have to Stand Trial in Circuit Court—Prescription "Case."

Upon learning that Vernon Wink, a Knightstown druggist, went before a justice of the peace at Knightstown and pleaded guilty to an unlawful sale of whiskey, Prosecutor Evans went right "straight up in the air," says the New Castle Courier. Peter Wagoner, the Knightstown town marshal, was here Sunday afternoon and filed three affidavits in the circuit court against Wink. He claims to have discovered Wink in the act of selling a drink of whiskey to an intoxicated man behind the prescription case. Wink, it seems, learned of the charges filed against him and went before a justice of the peace and was fined $25 and costs.

Evans took exceptions to the manner in which the case was handled and it is understood that he wrote a stinging letter to certain people in Wayne township explaining his position most clearly.

Wink's father happened to drop in to the sheriff's office during a discussion of the affair and he was told to have his son present himself and arrange for bond, because the plea of guilty in the justice court at Knightstown in no way affected the three cases against him in the circuit court. The elder Wink stated that he would see to it that the young man came to New Castle.

Wink appeared at the office of the county sheriff Monday afternoon and surrendered himself. He was arrested on three charges, two of which were for selling liquor without a license and the third for selling intoxicants to a habitual drunkard. He was released on bond furnished by his father.

CLOTH FOR UNCLE SAM.

It Must Be Pretty Good Stuff to Pass the Government Tests.

The men of the United States army come nearer knowing to a certainty what they are buying in the way of cloth than do any other consumers in the country, says Mary Heaton Vorse in Success Magazine. When the government gives out a million dollar cloth contract it seems to it that it gets material according to specification. The specific contracts for various sorts of cloth are elaborate and go into the technical side of the matter—the number of threads to be used to the yard, the kind of wool to be used in the manufacture—for the United States soldier has to be well dressed in clothes that will stand the strain of weather and of work. On Governors Island, New York city, there is a testing laboratory for cloth. A specification of the weight per linear yard of each kind of cloth is mentioned. Each bolt of goods is weighed, and if it falls short of the proper weight it is thrown out. Next the question of wear and tear is considered, and again the specification is stated that each special kind of cloth will stand a strain of so many pounds to the inch work way and so many pounds to the inch filling way. So, after weighing, the next test is to cut a sample and try in a machine the strength of the cloth. If it won't stand this test the cloth is thrown out.

After the cloth has been pronounced perfect for weight and strength the dye tests are made. It must stand two acid tests for perspiration, and the material must stand boiling for ten minutes in a certain soap solution, showing that it will stand washing with strong alkalis, and finally comes the weather test, the material being exposed thirty days on the roof without changing color appreciably. If the cloth has passed its examinations successfully each yard of each piece of cloth is inspected, being run over machines for the purpose, while inspectors watch for any imperfections in the weave. An eighth of a yard for each imperfection is charged to the manufacturer.

So when the cloth is finally sent to the contractor to be made into uniforms it is known to be of really good material. Each spool of thread, each button, each lining, each filling used in the clothes of soldiers has its own special test.

ers should dismiss the petition at the cost of the petitioners. Mr. Kiplinger said that when the commissioners decided that the sixty-seven petitioners had a right to withdraw their names and that it was found that there was not a sufficient number left, the matter passed out of the jurisdiction of the board and that they had no right to act further. Mr. Gary requested the counsel for the petitioners to show under what jurisdiction the petitioner would be if it were not that of the commissioners. The affair resulted in the decision on the form of record which was to be made being postponed until after dinner. It was unanimously decided that counsel for each side should prepare form as they would like it in the records of the board's action and submit it to the commissioners. The commissioners promised to consider both suggestions and then make the record as they thought it should be made and still be according to the law.

The form of the record which will be made is a very vital one to the petitioners. If the commissioners grant the prayer of the remonstrators and withdrawing petitions and wholly dismiss the petition from the court, it may mean the end of the present litigation. On the other hand if the commissioners do not dismiss the petition, the attorneys for the first petitioners may appeal from the decision of the commissioners' court to the circuit court and there get a decision in the matter. If the petition is dismissed it will probably be the end of it and it will be necessary to circulate another petition before the matter is brought before the commissioners court again.

It is the belief of the attorney for the petitioners that the petitioners have no right to withdraw their names after the petition has once been filed before the board. They say that it would be possible to take their names off before the petition was filed. On the other hand the commissioners decided that withdrawing petitions had that right and it is from that decision that the attorneys expect to appeal. They believe that a higher court will hold that the petitioners had no right to take off their names after the petition had once been filed. If the petition is dismissed by the board there will be nothing left on which to appeal except that the commissioners had no right to dismiss the petition on the ground that it passed out of their jurisdiction.

This morning the commissioners considered the petition of William A. Mull and others for a highway in Rushville township and appointed Matthew L. McBride and Edmund L. Lowden as viewers. They were ordered to qualify May 9 and report June 5. This leaves three more road petitions yet to be considered aside from the First and Perkins street petitions.

AMUSEMENTS

The Star Grand will present its usual two reel program tonight. The first is an American film entitled "The Pittsburg Millionaire." In this drama is told the story of one Philip Nash, who advances rapidly from the position of a common laborer to that of general manager of one of the wealthiest and most important steel manufacturing interests; the marriage of this young man to his boyhood sweetheart; his wife's contentment with her lot; and then the final disruption of their happy home due to the changed conditions attendant upon his rapid advance in the commercial world. The depiction of Nash's eventful downfall after he has shown conclusively his preference for a singer of note, whose charms and fascinations lead to his complete undoing is a strong scene. His subsequent reformation and return to his wife's home is shown in the closing scene. The second picture is a Nestor entitled "The Professor's Romance." Judge John Hammond appoints his college chum Professor Wilkins guardian over his charge, Miss Eva Hammond, until he returns from abroad. The picture goes on to tell how the old professor falls in love with his charge, but promptly falls out again when he realizes he is too old. There are some funny situations come up in the picture that can only be enjoyed to their fullest by seeing them. Earl Robertson will sing "Squaw Colleen."

The Portola Photoplay will present the usual change of program tonight. The first film is a Vitagraph, "Picciola." It is a thrilling story of French history during the time of Napoleon. The second is an Essanay, "The Outlaw and the Child" and is said to be a dramatic picture of western life. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Palace will present a Vitagraph and a Biograph film tonight. The Vitagraph is entitled "An Unexpected Review." The picture is a comedy-drama of the affairs of State and several funny situations are shown. The Biograph "The Midnight Marauder" deals with the adventures of a man who is always throwing bouquets at himself and gets in a place where it is up to him to show his bravery. His failure to do so is said to be very comical. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet will offer a big program this evening with three reels of pictures. The Imp picture "Pictureland," is a descriptive film of which the wonderful scenic effects are said to be marvelous. The Bison, "Reunited at the Gallows" is a drama, excelling in thrilling situations and exciting moments. The Solax, "Corinne in Dollyland" is a comedy and is said to be one of the best pictures ever reproduced by that firm. A new illustrated song will be on the program.

Fresh from its remarkable run of 126 performances in Chicago, "The Great Name"—with Henry Kolker as the star—will be offered by Manager Henry W. Savage at the Murat theater Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee, May 5 and 6.

"The Great Name" is a dramatic comedy dealing with the genial whimsicalities and lovable eccentricities of the artistic temperament, its central character being a young composer of waltzes and operettas who sacrifices his own ambitions in order that a yet greater genius in the field of serious music may have a chance in the world. It is a story of high dramatic power and of remarkable charm exquisitely told and set forth with extraordinary skill. "Better than even 'The Music Master,'" was verdict rendered during the record-breaking stay in the mid-western metropolis.

Henry Kolker—now elevated to the full rank of stardom—is conceded by the critics of New York and Chicago the most brilliant of the younger American actors. His sterling achievements as leading man last season for the New Theater company, and previously as leading man with Mary Mannering, Mme Nazimova, Bertha Kalich, Margaret Anglin and other distinguished stars, has established him in the forefront of native players.

"The Great Name" is an adaptation by James Clarence Harvey from the German of Victor Leon and Leo Field which has won triumphs of the highest order, engagements of 200 nights in Vienna and 150 in Berlin being among its many European successes.

Mr. Savage has staged the play with all his accustomed lavishness, and has provided a supporting cast of very exceptional worth. Russ Whytal, Louise Woods, Lizzie Hudson Collier, Sam Edwards, Ruth Chatterton, W. P. Richmond, Rudolph Duering, Arthur Hoyt, E. A. Hohenwart, Harry Tansey, Sigmund Grosskopf, Hans Figdor, Frances Gaunt, Dorothy Walters, Elsa Lorimer, are among the players of especial distinction in the company of twenty.

CHAPTER XV.

BOTH men looked at Breed curiously. He was not now addressing them, but gazing intently into the fireplace. Dr. Zephon came hurriedly over and put his hand upon Breed. The door opened, and Lillian came in. She had been about to ask some trivial question; but, seeing that look in her grandfather's face, she, too, hurried over to him and put her hand upon his other shoulder. At Zephon's touch Breed had given no sign, but to the touch of Lillian he responded instantly. The rigidity of his features relaxed. He shook his head as one shakes off drowsiness and then looked up at Kelvin with a resumption of his old shrewd twinkle.

"So that's the program," he said in quite a natural tone of voice. "Next year we'll run the ticket of Kelvin and Rollins."

Rollins caught his breath with a sharp little intake. "It is a high honor," he said.

Kelvin laughed lightly. "No honor could be too high for my greed of power," he said in a half jesting tone. "I am still of the opinion that I should like to be emperor."

Lillian looked up at him, smiling. "And I still hold to my original declaration that if you are I want to be empress," she declared.

Something clattered at Kelvin's feet. Startled, they all looked down. It was a bright steel dagger.

"Beg your pardon," said Blagg, stooping down to get it. He had come in unobserved with a message. "It was very awkward of me. As it happens, this is only Mr. Kelvin's paper knife, which I accidentally brushed off the corner of his desk. But, after all, it is a dagger, too, and rather an unlucky omen to drop at the feet of a man who declares his desire to be emperor of the United States!"

The incident was passed over as of no moment, and Rollins laughed in keen amusement.

"Your man Blagg is as good as vaudeville," he observed. "At first I was inclined to take him rather seriously, but he's too melodramatic to mean anything. I happened to see that paper knife incident out of the corner of my eye. Blagg deliberately pushed it off the desk to fall at your feet."

Kelvin joined in the laugh. "He's absolutely harmless," he said, "but he's an excellent wireless operator."

Shortly afterward the paper knife disappeared from Kelvin's desk, but no one noticed its absence.

The argument with Rollins had but one possible result—Hepperdon and Raymer got their concessions, as did a few others. Raymer had originally appeared as representing the entire packers' combine, but when the matter was put squarely up to him he promptly left Speed, Melton Sears & Co. and the rest of them out in the cold, took a comfortable rebate for his own shipments and let them pay the full freight. Valentine was left out entirely, Kelvin, with a smile, pointing out that Breed himself controlled all but one of the men whom Valentine claimed as his own. The Oswald bill was killed in committee.

Valentine was one of the loudest objectors. His business was ruined, and the woolen mills combine resolved itself into its original members. Kelvin's publicity bureau seized upon this as the first shining example of what the flat rate had done for the public, and Kelvin went soaring again in the public esteem. The mills of the woolen combine had once more become independent concerns, competing with one another, with the double effect of raising the price of wool and lowering the price of the finished article, the farmers and the public being the great beneficiaries, and Rollins had done this, with Breed back of him as the momentum, and back of them both Kelvin as the dynamic force. Great was Kelvin! Then the beef combine came to blows. Raymer, as he well might, was underselling the other packers and gobbling up their trade. Some of this internal war leaked out, and again the flat rate. Breed, Rollins and mighty Kelvin were heroes! The United Steel corporation, the woolen combine and the beef trust—there was a record over which to crow! Who now was the friend of the people? Why, Breed and Rollins and Kelvin, great Kelvin!

But Kelvin had long since absented himself from Forest Lakes, leaving behind him no thought of any interest that might be there, save as it concerned his own boundless aims. The dreams of two women, one dark and one fair, followed him, but he would not have cared now if he had known. He left the field to his rivals and plunged into his new plans with the same concentration that had marked his previous undertakings. Henry Breed, watched savagely by Zephon, spent his half hour daily in his huge money vault and day by day spent more and more furtive time upon his Bible, while Blagg at dead of night practiced incessantly upon his sample combination lock. He could open it now, set upon any combination, by the mere feel of the drop of the tumblers.

Kelvin's new task was an agreeable one. He took up pleasant quarters in Washington and began to entertain the list of senators whom Breed counted as among his assets, and gradually his circle of acquaintances grew. He was gone about three months, and when he returned he sent for Rollins.

"Have you sent Hepperdon and Raymer and the others their rebates?" he asked.

"Yesterday, up to the 1st of the month," replied Rollins. "Why?"

"Because there are to be no more. Collect your flat rate and keep it without a single exception. We've won."

"Rebate to the United Food company, as usual, Rollins," interrupted Breed, with a chuckle. "That's my only profit on bread now, you know, since Kelvin reduced it to cost. And rebate in cash, Rollins, always in cash!"

"But I don't quite understand," protested Rollins.

SCALP ITCH GOES

Parisian Sage Gets to the Hair Roots and Nourishes the Hair.

Give Parisian Sage a chance to drive every particle of disgusting dandruff from your hair.

Give it a chance to soak into the hair roots and stop the hair from falling out.

You won't be sorry if you do—you'll be dandruff dirty all your life if you don't.

And when you get a bottle of Parisian Sage you are not throwing any money away, because it is guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co., to eradicate dandruff; to stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back.

Parisian Sage kills the dandruff germ because of its peculiar power to get to the roots of the hair, right where the germs thrive and multiply.

But besides killing the germs it supplies nourishment to the hair; stops it from falling out, and cause it to grow thick and luxuriant.

Parisian Sage is a most delightful hair dressing, not sticky or greasy. A large bottle for only 50 cents at F. B. Johnson & Co., and druggists everywhere, or by mail charges prepaid by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

tested Rollins. "Can't they legislate against us effectively now?"

"Scarcely," returned Kelvin, with a smile, "since we ourselves are the law-making body, so long as we keep the public from clamoring too much to their servants in Washington. I've just purchased stock in the government—former assets of Hepperdon and Raymer and their fellow bandits—to give us control."

Rollins looked troubled. "I don't like it," he said.

"Nonsense!" declared Kelvin. "We're using it to a good end. You can establish your flat rate now as you planned in the first place. We're going to begin the battle of the trusts in earnest."

"The battle of the trusts," repeated Rollins musingly. "It sounds interesting at least."

"It won't be, though," replied Kelvin, with contempt. "There will be no battle whatever. I'm merely going to chloroform them on the eve of the presidential nomination. About the most popular idea that was ever put before the vast, unsuccessful majority of the voting public is the graded property tax. Well, I'm going to flame into print with the suggestion for a graded corporation tax and then have Mr. Breed's carefully tamed legislators frame that suggestion into a bill and pass it into a law. The wealthier the corporation the more it will be taxed pro rata until toward the top the tax will become prohibitive. The law is already as good as passed, and I imagine that it will be quite a shock to your old friends Hepperdon and Valentine and Raymer, Speed, Melton Sears & Co. and a few others. Eh, Mr. Breed?"

But Henry Breed did not hear Philip. He had just taken from the drawer of his desk a handful of photographs, a piece of red wax crayon, a hammer and some tacks and was starting for the rear study. As he passed Philip caught a glimpse of the top photograph. It was a portrait of Hepperdon.

A cheaply dressed fellow, a big man with a thick neck and broad shoulders and arms that hung crooked at the elbows, alighted at a little wilderness station on the Long Island railroad behind Kelvin and Sam. A farmer-like native approached the more prosperous appearing Philip.

"You, Mr. Kelvin?" he demanded.

"The same," replied Kelvin. "This is Mr. Purser. I believe?"

"I reckon so," admitted the other. "Old Hayseed Purser."

Kelvin clambered into the front seat of a dilapidated surrey. Mr. Purser fixed upon Kelvin a contemplative gaze.

"You don't want to see that scrub oak land we wrote each other about," he suddenly advised, with engaging bluntness. "You're no cheap lot boomer. You're lookin' for a summer home."

"No," objected Kelvin, still smiling. "I'll look at the scrub oak property, I think."

At this moment the big, workman looking fellow stepped up to Mr. Purser. "Could you tell me where I'd find a few acres of cheap ground fit for market gardening?" he asked.

"There ain't any such property left on Long Island," declared Mr. Purser emphatically. "The land between this railroad and the water ain't cheap, and the land back o' that you couldn't grow anything on. It is all sand dunes."

"I'll look at what you have anyhow," replied the other.

"All right," said Mr. Purser reluctantly. "Just crawl in the buggy there."

They drove from the station and, turning from the highway by and by, struck off into a scarcely defined road through the wilderness of stunted oaks and pines.

"Well, here you see it," said Mr. Purser deprecatingly. "I might drive you for hours, and it's all just like this."

"What is it worth?" asked Kelvin.

"I reckon I could turn over a thousand acres of it runnin' around forty and fifty dollars an acre."

"A thousand acres," mused Kelvin. "How much money, on the average, do make a year?"

"That's pretty nigh a personal question, ain't it?"

"It's a business question," returned Kelvin. "I want to buy all this sort of land you can secure within eighty-five miles of Broadway. I'd like to hire you for one year to represent me exclusively in this matter. How much do you want?"

"Well," said Mr. Purser, slowly calculating, "last year I made nigh on to $4,000 in commissions."

"Very good," said Kelvin. "I'll give you five thousand for this year, beginning now. Do you suppose you can save me the amount of your salary?"

"I reckon I could," said Mr. Purser. "I reckon there ain't anybody on this island canicker for property as good as I can."

"It's a bargain, then, is it?" inquired Kelvin.

"Yes, I reckon it is. Begins right now, don't it?"

"Begins right now."

"I think that will be about all for the present," said Kelvin and rose to go.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Rushville.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I have nothing but praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have been of great benefit to me. I was subject to attacks of kidney trouble and no doubt the complaint was brought on by the hardships I endured while in the war. I had severe pains in my back and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage. This weakness disturbed my rest and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and procuring a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store, I began their use. In a short time the backache and kidney weakness disappeared and I was in much better health. I can not say that I am completely cured, but I know that I can rely on Doan's Kidney Pills for relief. I have previously given a public statement in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I gladly endorse them again."

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

THE GREENLEAF TRIAL BEGINS

Young Man Charged With De-liberate Murder.

HAD PRACTICED FOR THE SHOT

It is Alleged That George Greenleaf, a Terre Haute Young Man, Had Conspired With the Son of His Victim to Kill Ralph Conover, a Contractor, Because the Latter Had Abused His Family.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 3.—For the murder of Ralph Conover, eighteen months ago, George Greenleaf is placed on trial today. Greenleaf is, twenty-two years old. It is alleged that he and the son of his victim conspired to kill Conover, a contractor, because he abused his family. The state will try to prove that Greenleaf, armed with an old army rifle, waited outside the door of Conover's home and deliberately shot him when Conover followed his son from the dwelling. It is alleged that the young man practiced with the rifle several days before the shooting in order to make his aim sure.

Greenleaf has been out of jail on bond, while the case had been continued repeatedly and strong influence used to delay trial.

Colonel Chinn, who is to advise Mrs. Shonts about the large donation she is contemplating giving, was a friend of the eastern woman's father, the late John Drake.

TOO MUCH MUD FOR SOLDIERS' COMFORT

Many Desertions Expected in "Maneuver" Army.

San Antonio, Tex., May 3.—It is no longer a secret that a very serious situation may shortly develop in the camp of the division mobilized at Fort Sam Houston. The continuance of wretched weather and the fact that the paymaster has begun paying off the men combine to hasten the development of this situation. All the officers of the various regiments fear that the next ten days will bring to light an alarming number of desertions and a marked depletion of the ranks.

For fully half of the thirty days in April the men in the camp were either kept inside their tents by driving rain or mired in company streets by adobe mud a half foot deep. Inactivity and poignant discomfort have combined to wear the nerves of the enlisted men, especially the recruits. Many men whose enlistments have expired have failed to renew them; all of them grumbling about the climate, and saying that the worst is yet to come in about a month, when the thermometer climbs up over the 100 mark.

New clothing outfits are being distributed with this month's pay. It is very likely, say the officers, that with a new outfit and money in his pocket, many a poor rummy who has slept and waded in the mud for these past six weeks will risk hiking for the Mexican line and oblivion.

ECHO OF SQUABBLE

Argument on Slander Suit Will Stir Baseball Circuit.

New York, May 3.—The $50,000 suit for slander brought by John M. Ward against President B. B. Johnson of the American League, is being argued in the United States circuit court before Justice Hand today. The suit is the outcome of the controversy over the election of a National League president two years ago, when the deadlock between Ward and John A. Hyder resulted in the selection of Thomas J. Lynch. Ward in his complaint sets forth that Johnson made remarks reflecting upon his integrity and dignity as a baseball man and a lawyer.

Six-Year-Old Girl of Indianapolis Prefers Foster Parents to Real Ones.

HAS LONGING FOR OPEN FIELDS

Is Returned to Ramsey Home Near Morristown After Having Few Days of Life in City.

In memory of the delightful times she has enjoyed while at the farm of Wesley Ramsey near Morristown and her longing for the open fields, instead of the close, crowded city, has caused the six-year-old daughter of James Kent, 514 Winkins street, to be discontented in the home of her parents, says the Indianapolis News. Mr. Ramsey finally got permission from the parents to take the child to the farm, and the little girl gladly accompanied her benefactor.

The child was given to the board of children's guardians of Marion county six months ago, by the father, who was sent to the workhouse for neglecting his wife and four little children. The girl was placed in the Ramsey home, who have no children of their own. They supposed the child had been given to them outright and became much attached to the little one.

Then the father was released from the workhouse. He made a better citizen of himself and re-established a home. Both parents sought the little girl. There was trouble at the Ramsey farm when an agent of the board of guardians attempted to take the child. It was not given up until the court ordered the child to be returned to the parents.

Now the child is with the Ramseys, and they say as long as she wishes to live with them she need not worry about a home. The Kents, though they desired to keep the child, decided it would be to the best interest of the daughter to allow the Ramseys to keep her.

SOCIETY NEWS

The Utopia club will meet with Mrs. Howard Mullin in North Perkins street tomorrow afternoon.

A brilliant close to the social season of the New Castle Club was the May day party Monday evening at the club rooms, says the New Castle Courier. The hosts were members of the younger set and they proved very decidedly that the committee had made a wise selection for the concluding event. The rooms were decorated in lavender and white garlands, lavender shades covered the lights and the suggestion of spring was everywhere, the final touch being in the May baskets, filled with ferns and cherry blossoms, which were placed in the center of the hall. About one hundred guests were present to view the May frolic which occurred after the second dance and which consisted of the winding of the May pole by sixteen young ladies. This was done in a really artistic manner and was an original and charming feature of the evening. Skehan and Stinson furnished the music for dancing, which was enjoyed in the Moose hall, while a number of guests played cards downstairs. During the intermission the hosts served a delicious lunch. Out-of-city dancers were Misses Marguerite White of Chicago, Helen McConnell of Aberdeen, S. Dak., and Martha Hogsett of Rushville.

You Have to Know a Lot About Refrigerators
Before You Can Be Sure

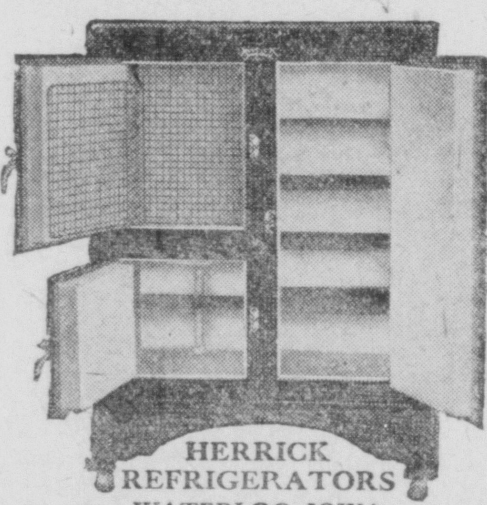

Every refrigerator bought here is guaranteed easy to clean, and perfectly sanitary. You can take them all apart, the ice chamber lifts out, the waste pipe and shelves lift out, the inside coating is white as snow and hard as glass, and furthermore we have simplified your ice problem—the insulation—the part you don't see is the most important item. We have tested these Refrigerators.

We Might Tell

you here a lot of nice things about our HANDSOME NEW WHITE WAISTS AND WASH SUITS. We might say they were perfect in style, best in quality, and best to buy—all of which would be the truth. But it would be far better for you—and us—for you to come to the store and see with your own eyes how they look and fit, and Judge for yourself if they are best to buy. Buy later if you want to, but LOOK NOW.
